LONDON, Sept. 29.—A private cable message here this afternoon says that the el fleet resumed the bombardment of Rio de Janeiro this morning. Paris, Sept. 28.—A cable message received in this city to-day from Rio de Janeiro, denies the truth of the report, received here resterday to the effect that the warships beng to the squadron commanded by ral de Mello were silenced after opening fire upon Rio de Janeiro by the guns of the land forts at the mouth of the harbor. The forts at Rio, according to this dispatch, anable to shell the rebel ships, owing to the position the latter occupied, withou tremendous risks of dropping into Rio de Janeiro itself. But this was not the only reason which prevented the forts from firing on the bel ships. The forts, the cable message rere adds, are almost entirely destitute of ammunition, in spite of the statement oled here by the Brazilian Government to its agent in Paris, saying that the forts had impletely garrisoned and supplied, and the reason some of the rebel ships got out to sea was because they passed out before

To-day's cable says that the forts did not try a shot at the rebels for fear of hurring riends and damaging property in the city, and because the little ammunition they have in their magazines is held in reserve in view of a possible attack upon the forts them-

All reports, however, reaching the outside world from Rio, have come either from Gov-ernment sources or from friends of the rebels, both sides coloring their reports to suit the dispatches received by the banking houses in London have given the public an idea of the real situation of affairs. Some surprise is expressed here at the fact that the United States Government has not yet re ed accurate news from Rio, especially as it is announced here that the Charleston has reached that port. People here believe that the United States Government would be able obtain news from Rio when any other Government would be unable to do so.

The manager of the London and Brezilian banks received a cable dispatch from Rio de Janeiro fo-day stating that one of the bank's staff in that city was killed during the late bombardment by the rebel warships. The manager says that the bulk of the published news regarding affairs in the Brazilian capital is not believed by merchants and others in London having interests in Brazil. The censors of the telegraph line will allow nothing but commercial telegrams to pass, and consequently the alleged dispatches purporting to give the details of the bombardment and defining the political situation are more than likely the work of persons with irresponsible imaginations who are located nowbere near Brazil.

The Exchange Telegraph Co., which is doubtful authority, Says that England regards the situation in Rio de Janeiro with grave anxiety. The company says that the Government has dispatched urgent cipher telegrams to T; G. Hugh Windham, British bilinister at Rio.

At first the State Department was disposed to place the responsibility with the cable companies, but since it appears that the Brazilian Ministers in this and European countries have no difficulty in communicating with their Government, there is a strong suspicion that the Brazilian Government is responsible for the embargo placed on the messages for this Government. This matter is now the subject of investigation.

ACCUSES HER FATHER.

Shocking Charges Made by Maggie Le-rues, a 14 Year-Old Girl.

A shocking case of victous de pravity was brought to the attention of Prosecuting Attorney Dierkes this morning in the appplica-tion of Maggie Leruez, a pretty little 14-yearold French girl, for a warrant for her father Arthur Lerues, a photographer at 828 Market street, on a charge of attempting to-criminally assault her.

According to the story told by the girl, she has for years been repeatedly the victim of attempted criminal assault at the hands of her unnatural parent. Since she was 8 years old she claims, her father has time and time again tampered with her, and endeavored to force her to yield to his unnatural desires. Of late, she states, these assaults have been of more frequent occurrence then ever and yesterday morning he mades a most determined effort and was only repulsed after a long struggle with the girl. She alleges that her mother knows of her husband's conduct, but that any attempt she makes to interfere only results in him giving her a severe beating. Wrs. Leruez did not accompany her daughter to the Four Courts, and the latter explained her absence by saying that she was confined to her bed from the effects of a thrashing that her father had recently administered.

Mr. Dierkes told her to call again, accom-nanied by her mother, when he promised to issue a warrant as requested.

Loreuz was seen at his piace of business on the third floor of the building on the south-east corner of Fourth and Market streets.

When asked whether the terrible charges made against him were true, he smiled a ghastly smile, shrugged his shoulders, and in broken English, with adecided French times, indicated that he was not guilty. The and in broken English, with adecided French tinge, indicated that he was not guilty. The child who made the charges was ca led in and she appeared with her mother and younger sister. She stood up boidly in front of him and repeated her awful charges. "He's been tampering with me," said she, in an an gry way "ever since I was 8 years old, and not only that, he has treated my little sister the same way and has also tampered with other little girls who came here to see me."

Leruez only smiled again at the charges and laughingly said they were faise, but his indignant little daughter screamed, "they are not. Everything I said is so," "Yes," chimed in Mrs. Lernez, the giff's mother, "what she says is so. He has been guilty for a long time. Manya night I have caught him. When she refuses he chokes and beats her."

Nothing seemed to phaze the photographer. He only smiled through it all and coolly remarked: "I guess they won't go back to the Four Courts. They'll drop the matter. You know I don't like this, It will lose me my business."

The mother and daughter insisted, however, that they would apply for a warrant again this afternoon and Leruez said he would see his lawyer. Leruez only smiled again at the charges and

CASE FOR THE CORONER.

Investigation as to the Cause of Ernest Huth's Death Being Made.

The Coroner is investigating the death of Ernest August Huth, aged 32 years, who died yesterday at 1404 St. Ange avenue under suspicious circumstances. The certificate was issued by Dr. George W. Bock of 1819 Hickory street, and grays the cause of death as an overflows of

The Coroner refused to approve the certificate and Deputy Coroner Rohlfing went out to investigate the case. He learned that the doctor had been called in to see Huthlast Thesday and treated him for morphine poisoning. How Huth had come to take the morphine the Deputy Coroner was unable to learn, as no information could be gotten at the place where he lay dead. Huth's wife could not be seen and her mother, who was at the place, gave no information.

It was learned, however, that on Tuesday evening a prescription was put up by order of Dr. Bock for Huth at a drug store at Park and St. Ange avenues. The prescription contained a solution of one per cent atrophine, which is an antidote for morphine. Yesterday morning another prescription was put up at the same drug store for Huth at Dr. Bock's order, containing one per cent of nitro glycerine, which was to fac at at the action of the heart. In a cupboard in the kitched at Huth's house two bottles were found containing portions of white powder. One of the bottles is believed to contain quinine and the other morphine. These were taken possession of by the Coroner and will be examined.

An inquest will be held at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Dr. George W. Bock is inclined to believe that Huth took the morphine in mistake for genuine and not with suicidal intent, though there are several circumstances which might give color to this latter supposition.

France Officially Notified to Receive Russians Quietly.

the semi-official and official warnings which Russia in regard to putting a check upon the extra demonstrativeness of the French people in connection with the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon are having their effect; so much so that a feeling of chilliness is commencing to be felt in official circles here regarding the whole affair. It was originally intended that President Carnot hould receive the Russian fleet upon its arrival and that the visit of the Russian sailors to Paris should be a perfect triumphal progress upon a scale never before attempted i the history of the world. At Toulon and in Paris receptions of the most gorgeous natur were to have been tendered the visiting sail ors, troops were to be turned out on all sides, balls and banquets galore were spoken glowing addresses were to have been made and, in a word, nothing was to have been left undone to make the visit of the friends of France a demonstration of the fact that Europe, in case of war, would find the Rus sian legions and the cohorts of France side by side against their common enemies.

Now, all this had undergone a considerable change and seems to be changing more and more every day. President Carnot only yesterday was said not to have decided to dis pense entirely with his visit to Toulon; but to have curtailed it to a visit of a few hours' duration only, to the Russian squadron alone; after which the President was to return added, doing away with the necessity of the Italian Envoy Extraordinary being present. Then again, yesterday, the municipal authorities of Toulon were informed that they could not have the 500,000 francs asked for from the Government in order to entertain from the Government in order to entertain the Russian visitors and that they must pay for any projected entertainment out of the city funds.

This alone robs the approaching visit of much of its charm to Toulon, and the Rus-sians will thus at Toulon be the guests of the city, and not of the nation, as at first in-tended. This is also a significant change in the French programme. tended. This is also a significant change in the French programme.

And now to day the Gaulois says that the Russian fleet will not be received by the President of the French Republic; but that it will be welcomed by Admiral Rieunier, commander of the naval forces at Toulon; and by Gen. Borleus, in command of the military forces at the port mentioned. It is added, however, the Gaulois says, that on the departure of the Russian visitors from Paris. President Carnot will announce to the Russian officers his intention of paying them a return visit to Toulon soon after their return to their ships.

return visit to Toulon soon after their return to their ships.

The Gaulois is not alone in stating that President Carnot has reconsidered his determination to welcome the Russians at Toulon; several other newspapers to-day make the same announcement and also touch upon several other points in the programme which have been considerably modified, owing to intimations from the highest quarters that they would prove too demonstrative. In all these changes of programme and curbing of demonstrativeness of the French nation, the hand of Baron de Nohrenheim, the Russian Ambassador to France, is plainly visible. Indeed, it is intimated that the Russian diplomatic agent has plainly influenced the French Government, that jians for all recenting to be given to the Russian matic agent has plainly influenced the French Government, that I lans for all receptions to be given to the Russian sailors must be submitted to the Russian sailors must be submitted to the Russian Embassy, and that they must be subject to any monification which the Russian Ambassador may consider advisable in order not to give offense to neighboring nations. In default of these modifications being agreed to it is hinted there is a possibility that the Russian fleet may be unable to visit Toulon as at first intended. With this possibility of disappointment staring them in the face the French Government has thought it wise to bow in everything to the wishes of the Russian Ambassador, who may now be said to have the direction of demonstrations given in honor of France's distinguished visitors. All this has cast a chill over france and has given much satisfaction to neighboring nations, for it has plainly indicated the fact that France cannot rely to any great degree upon the friendship of Russia, and that this friendship is based upon the understanding that. Russia is to do as she pleases but that France must follow the guidance of Russia if she desires the latter to remain her friend.

DOWN WITH THE LORDS.

Mr. Gladstone spoke at Albert Hall, which was packed to suffocation by a constituency which hurraned itself hourse as soon as they saw the Premier. He said the question of home rule for Ireland was coming rapidly upon them, and he hoped that should their votes be at any time solicited they would cast them so as not to dishonor Liberalism and aiddothian.

He was sanguine that at least the local government bills and the Irish Council bills would soon become laws. He hoped that home rule of some description for Scotland might become laws seen.

home rule of some description for Scotland might become law about.

Home rule for Ireland might be by some regarded as stallure. But depend upon it that home is not a failure. Wests and months and even years have been expended upon the details of the home rule bill and in counteracting the sactics of the opposition, and it is now recorded in history as a fact that the representatives of the people have deilberately and advisedly passed this bill, which was in itself a most important step.

He quoted from a nine-year-old speech of Joseph Chamberlain denouncing the House of Lords, Mr. Gladstone said that this speech of Chamberlain's, though largely exagger.

of Chamberlain's, though largely exagger-ated, was largely true. He continued to show the course of the Lords in defeating good measures since the days of the reform bill.

He said: "It is grossly unconstitutional and a menstrous innovation to suggest that the Peers could force a dissolution of Parliament. To allow such a prerogative would be high treason to the nation's title to being a self-governing country," Mr. Gladstone said if the Lords had not sometimes, as in 1846, departed from their precedents and passed measures of relief for the people there would be no House of Lords Irespect many members of the House of Lords, and I have a high respect for their personal character, abilities and the claim of their station. Nor have I a word to say against their abstract right to reject any bill from the Commons, but it is evident that in issues where the people have clearly and definitely spoken, nothing but the utmost discretion can preserve to the Lords possession of such a right, He clung to a hope that wiser counsels would prevail, but

If the scien of the House of Lords means forcing a dissolution of Parliament it might depend upon it that the Irish question would not be the only question considered, but that their own independent and irresponsible existence would be taken into consideration.

RADICALS TO THE MINISTERS. London, Sept. 28.-The Executive Committee of the Metropolitan Radical Federation roposes that the following resolution shall be acted upon at the meeting of the Federation, which is to take place Oct. 4 and 5, and that the resolution, when adopted, shall be forwarded to all cabinet ministers: The Metropolitan Radieal Federation desires you to decline any invitation to banquets promoted by the city corporations or galidas on Lord Maror's Day, in order that rou should not be made a party to the continued abuse of property held fer the public good by those bodies.

WHAT LONDON PAPERS SAY.

LONDON, Sept. 28. The Chronicle says that the soul-stirring words of Mr. Gladstone fully responded to the expectation of the most crushing indictment ever made against a legislative body. The speech was a perfect be drawn abundantly by those who are about to engage in the campaign against the peers. If the House of Lords persists in its new form of high treason to the nation's title to self-government, the representatives of the people will be expected to find a method of dealing with that body once for all. The home rule bill can be sent to the House of Lords next year by the House of Commons passing a resolution. This is how the Chronicle interprets Mr. Gladstone's words. This, it says, will save time and enable the House of Commons to deal with a democratic programme. The Daily News, in an editorial article, says that the interence deducible from Mr. Gladstone's speech is the House of Lords, following former precedents, will bow to the popular will. The paper says that the House of Lords consists of 500 privileged men against the whole nation, and if its members are so inclined they may provoke a revolution. The question is whether they will do so now. Mr. Gladstone's speech of any proposals dealing with the claims of the peers is no sign of weakness in his position. He is the head of a compact majority too strong to require resort to violent measures. Mr. Gladstone has told the Liberal hosts to go forward and forward they will go.

The Times anys that the speech of Mr. Glad-If the House of Lords persists in its new form stone has toid the Liberal hosts to go forward and forward they will go.

The Times says that the speech of Mr. Gladstone possesses the quality of courage, not on account of his mencing language toward the House of Lords, but the courage of his inconsistencies. It was during his vidiothian campaign in 1885, to which he referred in his speech of yesterday, that he appealed to the people to give him a majority independent of the Irish votes. His thunderbolt was cleverly forged. It was not intended to offend the peers, but to encourage his supporters. It may be true, the Times intended to offend the peers, but to encourage his supporters. It may be true, the Times says, that the House of Lords has offered unwise resistance to great reforms in the past, but the home rule bill is without a parallel. With a majority of upwards of seventy English members of the House of Commons against it, the House of Lords, having rejected the measure with English people, may be confident in challenging the verdict of national opinion.

Mr. T. P. O'connor's paper declares that Mr. Gladstone's speech absolutely sums up the whole case of the prosecution. It holds that the speech is unanwarable, inspiring and prophetic.

The Star, which paper has been waging a violent campaign against the Lords by publishing from day to day a series of chapters from the history of the peerage, headed "Titled Corruption," etc., says to-day that Mr. Gladstone treated the Lords with "scupulous tenderness."

The St. James Gazetie says that a plain reason why Mr. G.adstone does not raise the cry of "Down with the Lords" is because he dare not, as he knows that the country is with them.

WILL LOSE HIS PAY.

The Assembly Refuses to Create an Offic for the Mayor's Friend, Williams,

One of the objects for which the present special session of the Municipal Assembly was called was the passage of an ordinance providing for the office of garbage in spector. A bill for this was introduced in the Council at the first session and was very quietly pigeon-holed in a committee room. As the Assembly will adjourn to-morrow night sine dig, there is no prospect of its being passed at this special session. In the meantime the city has a garbage inspector in the person of Mr. Jacob 8, Williams, who was appointed by the Mayor. His appointment seems to have been with-

The old ordinance which created the office of gart are inspector was repealed by the new garbage law. Health Commissioner Homan said at the time he did not regret it because there was no necessity for such an office, as the police and sanitary department had all the garbage inspectors the city readed.

The Mayor looked on the matter differently, however, and seeing a good chance to put a Republican in office appointed Mr. Williams to the position, and said he would have an ordinance providing for his salary, etc., passed at the special session of the Assemble.

passed at the special session of the Assembly.

It now appears that even the members of the reform Council do not indorse this assumption of power by the Mayor, as his little bill has been ignored. Even if it passed the Council it would not have the ghost of a show in the Lower House as the majority of the members have expressed a decided objection to this method of running the city government. If hir, Williams is continued in office it is reasonable to suppose that he will expect to be paid and then the same cry will be raised as in the case of the Colorado refugees—the Mayor has piedged the credit of the city to the payment of his salary. The question at the City mail is, Where did the Mayor get the authority to appoint him?

FITZWILLIAMS' BEVOLVER.

Miss Schuble Does Not Know Whether the Murderers Took It or Not.

Since the fact has become known that Edgar Fitzwilliams left his home with a pis-tol in his pocket less than an hour previous t on His Part—Judge Laughlin Makes a his death last Saturday evening, there have been many conjectures as to what part that revolver may have played in the tragedy. When the dead boy's body was found the pistol had disappeared and the police have since been making determined efforts to locate it in the hope of finding the gun in some pawn shop and the murderer in gan in some pawn snop and the murusrer in the man who pawned it. So far their attempts have been unsac-cessful and the part that pistol played in the tragedy is still a mystery. Miss Lizzle Schuble, the young lady who witnessed the frightful murder, was seen this morning and asked how Fitzwilliams handled his pistol on the car that fatal evening. "Why," she answered, somewhat astohished, "he didn't seen by a Poet-Dispatch reporter this morning and seed to the pegsistent work of Dr. Marks, who ishould with her all day yesterday. Whe seen by a Poet-Dispatch reporter this morning the control of the control handle it at all. I never knew Ed had a pis-tol with him until his mother told me the condition which always follows the un lect the negroes' fare he stood di-rectly between me and them, but never rectly between me and them, but never made any motion toward putting his hand in his pocket. After he was shot and fell in the rear end of the car, I ran out the front door and so cannot say whether the negroes went through his pockets and took his pistol. It is strange if they did, for though they had plenty of time to rob him, they didn't take his money, and if they didn't take his money I hardly think they'd take his pistol."

SERGT. FOX'S THEORY. Sergt. Warren G. Fox, who is in charge of the office at the Sixth District Police Station, has a little pistol theory Police Station, has a little pistol theory of his own. He thinks that when the negroes boarded the car the two who came in from the front end "held up" Fitzwilliams and took his pistol away. Sergt. Fox thinks some color is lent to this theory by a statement of Mrs. Schueble's. in which she said that when "Ed" came in through the front door of the car he looked pale and frightened, and casting one glance of warning at her, he came down to where the negroes were sitting, and instead of asking them for their fare, stood in front of them without saying a word, and looking decidely frikhtened. The question arises, why he did not attempt to escape instead of remaining in the car afterhe had heen attacked and robbed of his pistol by part of the crowd, and must have known he had no chance against them. He might have remained to protect the young lady to the best of his ability.

At any rate the pistol was taken by some protect the young lady to the best of his ability.

At any rate the pistol was taken by some one and it may yet be the means of the murderer's arrest and identification.

Alss Schuble this morning rehearsed the story of the killing said:

"The negroes came in from the front and back, and the four of them sat right opposite me. Ed came in and stood in front of them. As he did so they all jumped up around him. Two of them come over and 'sized me up' from head to' foot. One went to the front door of the car which Ed had left open, and closed it. As he came back he pulled his pistol and fired at me. I thought a bullet whized past my face, but it may have only been powder, as the builted did not strike the inside of the car of break the glass. It could not have gone through the door for if it had it would have saved Ed's life, for it would have hit the big neero with the mustache who was standing on the back platform who afterwards fired the fatal shot."

Chicago Anarchists Connected With the VIENNA, Sept. 28.—The Austrian police to-day say that investigation shows that

The Reichsrath of the western part of the monarchy consists of the Upper and Lower Houses; the Upper House (Herrenhaus) is formed of the Princes of the imperial family, who are of age, and secondly of a number of nobies (sixty-eight in the present Reichsrath), in whose families by nomination of the Emperor on account of being distinguished in art, science or in the church or State, about 183 in all.

The lower house consists of about 535 members, elected partly directly by votes of the citizens. Some 600 persons would have been hurled into eternity on Oct. 10 had the police raided the house on Siebenbrunner strasse on Sept. 23.

But the Reichsrath was not the only building over 1,000 would have been destroyed.

Even this was not the fall extent of the torrible conspiracy discovered. A number of other important buildings on the Ring blow the Reichsrath sky high and inspire were doomed to destruction.

Now comes, so far as the United States is concerned, the strangest part of the whole conspiracy. The bombs of the Vienna Anarchists were manufactured according to the formula prepared by Herr Most of New York. I his is not all: the police of this city insist and claim to be able to prove their assertions that the Anarchists engaged in the terrible conspiracy against their assertions that the Anarchists engaged in the terrible conspiracy against the city of Vienna were connected with the Anarchists of Chicago. This is not a police theory, the authorities say, but the connection of the Anarchists of Chicago with those of this city, they insist, has been fully established beyond any doubt. Correspondence between the Anarchists here and those at Chicago is said to be in the hands of the authorities, who, it would seem, must have communicated with the police of Chicago on the subject.

Strange Defense Set Up in an Action

ANSWER OF PUTHAM LODGE TO E. J. BERGIN'S WIDOW'S SUIT.

gaged in an Unlawful Act-The Coal Ticket Test Case-A Divorced Wife's Claims-Anna Steiners' Story of Her

Last week Elizabeth Bergin sued the Grand Lodge A. O. U. W. for a $2,000 certificate on the life of M. J. Bergin. The answer of the Grand Lodge was filed to-day. Bergin was a member of Putnam Lodge, but the Grand Lodge says that he was not in good standing, having been suspended for non-tayment of assessments, and consequently was not entitled to benefits.

Another and very interesting objection is made to paying the certificate. The answer says that Bergin, while a member of the or-der, did, on Feb. 22, 1892, "unlawfully, willfully and feloniously make assault on the person of —, and in lawful defense the said struck said Bergin and wounded from the effects of which he died on Feb. 28, 1892; that said death of said Bergin was the result of injuries received while violating the laws of the land; where-fore defendant states that the benefit certifi-cate sued on became void, and it would be against public policy to allow any recovery to be made upon his benefit certificate sued on."

to be made upon his benefit certificate seed on.

The records of the Coroner's office show that at the inquest held on bergin's body in February, 1892, a verdict was returned that he died of concussion of the brain, the result of an accidental fall. Geo. Weigel, a fireman stationed at Engine-house No. 23, testified that on the evening of Feb. 22, he and Wm. Simms entered Farley's saloon at 600 North Third street and saw Bergin leaning over the cigar stand and reported the matter to the proprietor. The latter sent out his barkeeper to investigate and the barkeeper called back that the man was lying on the payement. Weigel testified that he and simms went out and saw Bergin on his back on the payement, unconscious and with blood streaming from his nose and ears. Weigel testified that there were no evidences of a fisht. Simms said it was he, and not the barkeeper, who called back that the man was on the sidewalk. Otherwise his testimony agreed with that of Weigel.

Mrs. Bergin testified at the inquest that her husband was not subject to fits or fainting spells, as far as she knew.

Wants a Receiver.

R. C. Sneed brought suit yesterday ciation of St. Louis and Joseph E. McGinnis E. S. Guignon, J. W. Darst and eight others The association has its office in the Wain-The association has its office in the Wainwright Building. The petitioner says that he with the gentlemen named as defendants subscribed $75,000 at the incorporation of the association as a guaranty for the payment of all its liabilities. Each of them, with an exception or two, put up his promissory note for one-half the face of his subscription, secured by stock of class "A" as collateral. Then for value the corporation on March 16, 1893, delivered to plaintiff, he avers, two $1,000 certificates with semi-annual interest coupons for $30 each. The first of said coupons became due on Sept. 16, yet when plaintiff presented them at the bank of the association (the German American) payment was refused, he alleges.

Plaintiff then states that at a meeting of the association, the Board of Directors voted to wind up the business of the concern; but plaintiff protested and still protests, because if the association stops, it won't be able to earn any money to pay the plaintiff his two bonds. He alleges that in carrying out this resolution, the directors are dissipating the trust fund, and he wants a receiver appointed to take charge of the securities of the corporation and pay its debts, etc. wright Building. The Merchants' Echool Tax.

The "merchants' school tax" case came up in No. 2 this morning, Judge Withrow presiding.) r. Stark, attorney for the School Board, filed a motion made by Attorney-Gen Board, fifed a motion made by Attorney-General Walker to discuss the case and discharge the order heretofore made to show cause.

Mr. Bell for the petitioners promptly objected. He sail that the case was none of Attorney-General Walker's business, any more than it was John Smith's. The matter will come up before Judge Fisher. next Monday, and he suggested that in view of the short time until then, no order be made to-day. This was the District-Attorney's suit, and the Attorney General certainly has no control over the District Attorney. The Attorney-General had exceeded his powers in dismissing the suit.

Mr. Stark said that the Attorney-General had the superintending control of the law business of the State, and was form. law business of the State, and was down here yesterday conferring with his subordinates. Besides, this was a State mat-ter. Collector Ziegenhein stated that the rea-son of this suit was merchants were notipay-ing their taxes, and consequently the state revenues, as well as the school revenues were failing off. failing off.
Judge Withrow thought that the State wouldn't suffer for a three days' delay, and thought best to let the matter go over to Judge Fisher.

The Coal Ticket Test Case.

Mr. Leverett Bell this morning read the petition filed yesterday of certain coal companies instituting a suit to determine the validity of the coal ticket ordinance. He folpanies instituting a suit to determine the validity of the coal ticket ordinance. He followed with a few remarks, admitting that such legislation was within the power of the city, but denying that the ordinance was any practical good to the coal buyer, as the tickets, he held, afforded him no security as to his weights. He had ample security on twhich a weigher might make.

Mr. Marshall, for the city, said that he had seen the petition only this morning and he would file a demurrer. This was an attempt to transfer a Criminal Court case into the Civil Court. The petitioners could test the case by refusing to comply with it, and they could take the case to the Supreme Court if they desired. He said that there was no merit in the action. No temporary relief was asked for and no irrepurable injury was alleged as likely to result from the enforcement of the ordinance.

Air. Bell thought that the threatened enforcement of the ordinance by the police on Oct. I afforded reason for some hasts; but Judge Withrow was inclined to let the matter go over until next week, when No. 2 would be regularly in session, and his suggestion was assented to.

NLY A HALF-HEARTED PROMISE TO LET LAWYER GREEN ALONE.

Yesterday's Aged Combatants Arraigned Before Judge Morris-Mr. Green Acquitted-His Assailant Nominally Fined-Explanations by the Participants-They Leave the Court Boom by Opposite Doors.

Chas. H. Scott and Attorney Theodore P. Green, the two aged gentlemen who engaged in a natic encounter yesterday at Sixth and Pine streets, were arraigned in the First District Police Court to-day on cross charges of dis-

Police Court to-day on cross charges of the turbing the peace.

The cause of the trouble between the two old gentlemen, as published in the POST-DISFATCH yesterday, is the result of a will contest eighteen years ago, in which the heirs-at-law of John McKnight, a wealthy resident of St. Louis County, sought to break McKnight's will.
Scott's wife was a niece of McKnight's and her father, William McKnight, John McKnight's brother, would have inherited the major portion of John No-Knight's estate, which amounted to about $250,000. In his will John McKnight left his entire estate with the exception of some legacies to his widow, who is still living. William McKnight, Scott's father-in-law, was left about $13,000. John Mc-Knight had no children. The William McKnight family were at firs well satisfied with the provisions of the will. Vm. McKnight owned in his own right a farm of eighty acres, situated on the St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado Railroad about a mile west of Clayton. Some time after John McKnight's death, however, contest proceedings were insti-tuted, in which Scott, it is alleged, took an active part. The suit resulted in the will being sustained.

CAUSED IT ALL, Mr. Green was Mrs. McKnight's attorne and in making his speech before the jury in and in making his speech before the jury in defending the case, he severely scored the contesting heirs, Scott coming in for a good share of the scorching. Scott has never survived the effects of the defeat, which he attributed to the part taken in the case by Green. A short time after the case was decided Scott assaulted Mr. Green at Thirteenth and Market streets, the attorney being compelled to take refuge in the old mill which used to stand on that corner.

THE THIRD ATTACK. The attack of yesterday, according to Scott's admissions, is the third made on Mr. Green admissions, is the third made on Mr. Green since the law suit. The number might have been greater only that Mr. Green made it a point to avoid crossing Scott's path. The attorney has never prosecuted Scott, stating that he does not regard Scott as responsible for his actions.

Mr. Green, who is 72 years old, and of slight build, related to Judge Norris to-day the facts regarding the encounter yesterday. He denied that he attmpted to inflict any injury on Scott, who attacked him and only sought to defend himself. Scott, when called on for a statement, said that the statement of Mr. Green was substantially correct, and Mr. Green was discharged.

A POINT OF HONOR.

A POINT OF HONOR. The court then turned to Scott, who stood in front of the bar, his silk hat being laid on the bar, bottom side up. Judge Morris asked Scott if he would promise to desist from annoying promise to desist from annoying 'r. Green. Scott did not make the promise, but spoke of his grievance against Green. The Court repeated the question several times, but 'scott would not give the desired promise. Attorner Engene Slevin, who at-tends to Lawyer Green's business, Mr. Green having retired from practice, was in court looking after Mr. Green's interests, and turned to 'scott, beside whom he was stand-ing and asked of 'Scott: turned to scott, beside whom he was stand-ing and asked of Scott:
"Will you give the court your word of honor that you will not annoy Mr. Green?" Scott turned to Slevin and asked: "Will you take my word of honor?"
'That is not the question," said Mr. Slev-in. "Will you give the court your word of honor?"

"If you will take my word of honor," said Scott, ignoring Slevin's last remark,
"you will do more than I will do for you, you scoundrel." scoundrel."

Mr. Slevin made no reply, and the court called Scott to order.

Judge Morris again asked Scott if he would promise not to if he would promise not to bother Mr. Green any more, and Scott replied: "I suppose so. He is not worth bothering with."

"All right." said the Court. "Five dollars and staid," and Scott was allowed to depart.

TOOK DIFFERENT ROUTES.

Mr. Green left the court-room by another way from that taken by Scott, going through Clerk Keating's office and emerging on Eleventh street. To a Post-Disfatch reporter Mr. Green said:

"The account in the Post-Disfatch yesterday was correct, only that I did not do any fighting further than to try to defend myself. Scott is not responsible for his conduct. He has become a monomaniac on the subject. On all other matters he is all right. Part of his statement was also incorrect. There was only one will made as far as I know. I have avoided Scott whenever I could. If I saw him I would get out of his way around the corner or somewhere. Yesterday I had no chance to escape. I met him point blank, and he attacked me. I then did all I could to defend myself."

MR. SCOTT EXPLAINS. Scott in his statement to a Post-Disparch reporter yesterday said that John McKnight made a will in which he was named as executor. A Mr. Stamps, an old friend of the McKnight family, was in company with Mr Green to-day, and denied that portion of Scott's statement yesterday, in which Scott said that Stamps told him that John McKnight had made a second will

MARRIAGE IN BURMAH.

The Tie Is Easily Formed and Quite as Prem the London Times.

A chapter in the Burmah census report, dealing with what is called the "civil condition" of the people, gives much interesting information regarding marriage in that country. From the tables marriage appears to be much less common than in India, but this is said to be due to the fact that there is no child marriage among the Buddists and Salina, Kan., Sept. 28.—The Interstate Irrigation Convention was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning with an excellent representation from all the nine States interested in the movement. Judge Emery of Lawrence was elected temporary chairman and I. L. Bristow Secretary. Addresses were delivered by E. R. Moses of Great Bend, and Judge Emery, after which the committees were appointed. Mayor Gravens deflivered the address of welcome, which was responded to by D. M. Ftost of Garden City.

is generally the result of mutual affection between the parties after they have reached years of discretion. On the other hand, marriage is more common theretaan in European countries, for the tie is more easily formed and more easily dissolved, while motives of prudence have not the same weight. Destitution is almost unknown, and the wants of life in the temperate climate of Burman are more easily satisfied than in the colder countries of Northern Europe.

A young Burmesse couple can start life with a da and a cooking pot. The universal bamboo supplies materials for building the house, lighting the dre, earrying the water from the well, and may even help to compose the dinner itself. The wife is usually prepared to take a share in supporting the household, and thus she has gradually acquired a position of independence not always enjoyed by married women elsewhere. It has been decided that under the ancient Buddhist custom Drevailing in Burman a bushand cafinot allenate property jointly acquired after marriage without the consent of his wife. Few marriages take place where either party is under 15, and the usual age is between 15 and 25.

Polygamy now practically no longer exists, although in ancient times the Burmese were polygamists as well as alaye holders. "Nost Burmese have only one wife, and few more than two." The first or head wife is usually the choice.

ARRIVE ON WHEELS

The Bicyclists Will Visit the Exposition This Evening.

BALLET MUTIC WILL BE PLAYED PASH-

The wheelmen of the city will be the Expoition's guests of honor to-night, Four hun-led pneumatic tires will roll toward the Exposition, but this incident will not denote idemic of "that tired feeling" much bewalled in song and well as in advertisements. The wheelmen say "just wait," leaving the mpression that they intend to make the reikin ring. A meeting was held in the parrs of the Pastime Athletic Club rooms last ght to complete arrangements. Those esent were Capt. Staehlin of the South Side (yeling Club, Capt. Stith of the Caron-delet Cycling Club, Capt. A.G. Rarding of the delet Cycling Club, Capt. A.G. Harding of the St. Lonis Cycling Club, Capt. H. J. Stegemann of the Pastime Athletic Club, Tour Master Gilbert, Grand Marshal Hildebrand and Chief Consul Holm. It was decided that the runs should start from all club houses at 7 o'clock sharp. All wheelmen who desire to Join any of the club parades are invited to do so. Club parties will take charge of wheels at Thirteenth and Olive streets. The cyclers will scatter about the building as soon as they arrive, but at 8:45 o'clock they are expected to take seats in the parquet of Music Hall, because Band Master Sousa has arranged the programme of the second evening concert with an eye to the tastes of the wheelmen. He will play for their especial entertainment "A Bicycle Ride," by Jarone, and the wheelmen's song "Daisy Bell." In case of rain the wheel parade will be abandoned, but the club men will attend the Ex in uniforms under any circumstances.

To-night, the second concert will comence at 9 o'clock instead of 9:80; so that the intermission between the first and second intermission between the first and second concerts will be only an hour, instead of an hour and a half, as heretofore. The period between the concerts was lengthened last week to satisfy exhibitors who wanted the people to put in more time viewing the displays. It has been so universally unpopular, however, with patrons and visitors that the management decided to return to the old system.

Mr. Sousa is going to give some fine ballet be so delighted that it will see in its mind's we the mary movements of deceas of premieres danseuses. Mr. Sousa prepares his programmes a week in advance, so that the people who ask him to play their favorite pieces, should not take offense if they have to numbers on the programme. Mr. Sousa builds up his programmes in the quiet of his private room on the Olive street front. His library adjoins, and he has all the material at hand for the proper accomplishment of the very difficult task of programme making.

Back" takes the Music Hall audiences off their feet. When the hall is jammed and the people in the rear have to crane their necks to get a glimpse of the stage, the tragic finale, that is, the shooting of the grimal-kin, produces a temporary panic. Then comes the crash of shattered glass and the audience is all astir. Speaking of this feature of the piece, Mr. Sousa told a lumorous incident. A few years ago he was conducting a concert by his varine Banda. The hall was near a railread track and ope of the numbers closed with a vociferous B-flat. At the critical moment a passing locomotive blew a binst both long and loud in B-flat. The effect on the audience and band was electrical. The people were dumbfounded at the startling manifestation of reserve energy by the reed instruments and brasses; while the players were shocked and almost unstrung by the unlooked for addition to their instruments. It is needless to say that a thousand musicians could not have given so justy a B flat. When the hall is jammed and

"It's a mistake frequently made by bandmasters," said Mr. Sousa last night, "to consider "Hall to the Chief" the proper presidential saluting air. The tactics of the army and navy prescribe that, when a band passes its reviewing officer, the drums shall roll and trumpets sound, but it is utterly silent as to the band. The band might pass by in silence so far as the tactics say. 'Hall to the Chief' is the traditional saluting air.

The air is a pretty one and years ago became one of the favorites of the Marine Band. Owing principally to its sonorous beauty and to the band's familiarity with the air (and evidently, perhaps, to its title) the Marine Band fell into the custom of playing it at the White House on State occasions as the presidential party entered the reception room. In this way the notion became current among bandmasters that 'Hail to the chief' was the official reviewing air. As a matter of fact the Marine Band never plays it when marching past the President. It always plays 'semper Fidelis,' the reviewing march of the Marine Corps. It was written by me especially for the review of the corps. Hence its title 'semper Fidelis,' the motto of the corps. It is so written that the roll of the drums and the seanding of the trumpets, as drum corps, and trumpet corps pass the reviewing officer, shall form an integral part of the air.'

music of no small importance. Germans dominate ten to one in these bands. In the larger cities the Italians come next in number. There are not many French musinumber. There are not many French musicians in this country, and the Americans form the smallest number in the list. Curiously enough the best musicians are usually men of a very nervous temperament, their sensibilities attaining an aimost abnormal development. They are easily excited and irritated by often triling causes. Fine musicians are usually possessed of an uneven disposition, and while dispensing divine music before the scenes may be veritable demons behind. The principal military bands in this country are Sousa's Concert Band, the 7th Regiment Band of New York, the old Gilmore Band, for which Victor Herbert has just been chosen as director, to follow D. W. Reeves, who will go back to Providence, R. I., to resume the directorship of the American Band and the Innes Band."

The twenty-two councils of the Legion of nor did credit to themselves and to the Exposition last night. The crowd was very large and the badges of the order were everywhere. The most officious and energetic of the committeemen were prominent citizens, who extended the hand of fellowship to all. The special entertainment began at 8:30 o'clock and continued until 9:30, the hour for the commencement of the instancement for the instancement of the instancement. THE ONLY FAMOUS. A Novelty in the Wey of an Anniversary

To-day Famous is celebrating its teenth birthday and the anniversary of its first year in the new store. After the fire of November, 1891, business at the corner of Broadway and Morgan was temporarily sus-pended, but the new palace of trade which rose out of the embers of the old store has so far exceeded the wildest expectations of its builders that they are celebrating in the most gorzeous manner their business success. The big store is crowded in every corner and the descrations hung from every cornic and pillar make a veritable exposition effect, and the displays of goods exceed anything ever attempted by any store in 8t. Louis.

There are three concerts given to day by Bafunno's Military Band, morning, afternoon and evening. The trade has been a crush to day, but this evening's entertainment will be of the nature of a reception. No goods will be sold to night. Doors will be thrown open at 8 o'clock and the reception will continue until 10 o'clock.

The ladies have been presented to day with natural roses. To night there will be 10,000 souvenirs given free to all comers.

From the roof will be sent up 100 fire balloons, to which will be sent and for to a valuable present. There will be suits of clothes, gloves, hats, boys' suits, umbrellas, neckwear, etc., that will be sent flying into the air, and the fun will be fast and furious.

Famous' anniversary reception to night will prove a bigger attraction than the illumination, and the enormous establishment is prepared for the biggest crowd ever in a 8t. Louis business house.

The proprietors of Famous when congratulated on their brilliant success were all smiles, and state that the past year's business has been more than double that of any previous single year, and that, too, in the teeth of a financial panic. Therefore this celebration is very apropos of the state of business.

Each department is overflowing with new goods, and the prices put on them advertise them most successfully.

It is worth the visit to see the decorations of the building outside and inside. To night there will be a grand 'llumination of the whole front in addition to the gaia effect of the draperles. Graceful paims and potted plants are grouped effectively in every conceivable spot and with the bright hues of the merchandise m rose out of the embers of the old store has so

Character of the Mayor's Requisitions on the Contingent Fund.

Use It for the Removal of Paup-ra-An Unprecedented Condition-Probability That the Law Establishing the Fund Will Be Changed. The city charter makes no provision for the Mayor's contingent fund. It is not alluded to in either directly or indirectly and was never contemplated by the framers of the charter. It appears to have been an afterthought of the Municipal Assembly, and at present there are only two sections of the revised ordinances which bear on this fund. They are vague in the extreme and simply provide for a fund for the Mayor to be used for "secret service" purposes and "to assist and remove pau-

It will be seen that this section clearly provides that the Mayor shall draw his "requisition" on the Auditor for "specific purposes" and this requisition shall be approved by the Comptroller.

The way in which Mayor Walbridge has drawn upon the fund will be seen by the following copy of his last requisition, which, by the way, was for only $750, he having already drawn nearly $9,000 during a period of fortysix days in June and July:

HIS LAST REQUISITION.
SEPT. 6, 1893. Joseph Brown, Auditor:

Hon. Joseph Brown, Auditor:

DEAR SIR-In accordance with the provisions of Revised Ordinance 1893, chap. 25, see 948, and also of ordinance 17, 219, approved June 30, 1893, you will please draw your warrant in my favor upon Charles Seudder, Treasurer, for the sum of see on hundred and fifty dollars ($750), and charge same to account of the appropriation for the Mayor's contingent fund. Respectfully, UKLBRIDGE, Mayor. Approved: ISAAC H. STURGEON, Comptroller.

Approved: Isaac H. Stungkon, Comptroller.
Ordinance 17,219 referred to is the one making the last annual appropriations.
This requisition simply refers to the section of the revised ordinances above cited, but the Comptroller must take cognizance of the fact that the money is to be used for the purposes specified in that section.
Mayor Walbridge, however, avoided compitting himself to a specific statement as to the use for which he intended the money.

It was clearly intended, from its terms, that the Mayor should draw on this fund from time to time as the exigencies of the case demanded, and certainly no member of the present assembly will contend that his pre-lecessors intended the Mayor should take the bulk of this fund from the City Treasury at one fell swoop and deposit it in bank to his individual credit, where he could loan it out or otherwise dispose of it as he saw fit. The fund was created for a specific purpose and when the Mayor refuses to apply it to that purpose he is not only violating this law, but also his own oath of office.

When it is devoted to any other purpose it has been illegitimately drawn and illegally appropriated.

This certainly was never intended.

Speaking of Laconics.

From the Boston Transcript. "Speaking of laconics, the Listener ha heard a characteristic example of Yankee village talk which has a certain folk-lore value, in spite of its profanity-perhaps of account of it. A fellow in the village had gone West, with a little money in his pocket, intending to accomplish wonderful things. A few weeks afterwards he returns to the village out of pocket. Directly after his appearance one villager meets another in the street, and the following conversation en-

And Had a Lively Time on Loaded Watermelons.

Not long ago, while the mercury down at Ocala, Fla., was climbing near the top of the tube, two young men decided to agreeably surprise their young lady friends by a treat of iced watermelon for dinner. After studying over the matter for a while they decided did not begin to show their appreciation of that an ice-cold melon was not good enough—did not begin to show their appreciation of the young ladies—so they went down into their pockets and purchased two bottles of the finest claret in the city, emptied them into the melon, then sent it to the hotel with instructions to place it in a cool place.

This was done, and all would have been well had not the hotel folks decided to treat the guests to a fine melon the same day. The rich, wine-filled melon lay side by side with the melon flavored only by nature, and yet the sameness on the outside remained undisturbed. At the proper time the colored factorium was ordered to prepare the hotel melon for the table. [No one except the young men knew anything about the wine being put in the melon.] As soon as the knife laid the melon open the peculiar odor satisfied the waiter that it was spoiled. A brief consultation was held, and the unanimous verdict was that it was no good.

It was taken out and placed in the cow lot, where a mild-eyed Jersey lay dreaming the hours away. The bovine, knowing a good thing when she saw it, was soon on the outside of the melon, wine and all.

Now, two quarts of wine is a pretty stiff drink even for a cow, and it soon began to tell on her, and for a time she made things lively, trying to stand on her head, kicking her heels, trying to waitz, tugging at the fence with her horns and acting as if she was crazy to paint the town red in her own way. Finally the heavy debauch proved too much for her. She took the hiccoughs, staggered around a while, fell down and began snoring. Since then she has refused to eat plain melon.

"This seems to be a wonderful snake season," said he, mechanically, turning over s son," said he, mechanically, turning over a set of rattles. "A person can't pick up a newspaper without reading an account of some one being bitten. Now, when I first went into Jackson Township I don't think there was a spot in the country more deeply populated with rattlers than that. I got accustomed to them; paid no more attention to them than ordinary garter snakes. They're getting scarce now, though, and I'il tell you how I did it.

"I got half dozen big bogs and turned them loose in the thicket. "The hogs ate them with the greatest relish. They don't mind the bite of a rattler as much as that of a fiea. They'ill scratch for the fieas, but only turn up their snouts with contempt for the rattlers.

"One day I killed a little rattler and hung it on a bush just out of reach of two little pigs. They soon smelled it and haunted that spot all day. I took it down in the evening and gave it to them, and I never saw anything devoured more ravenously in my life.

"host people have mistaken ideas regarding snakes. They seem to think the reptiles lie in wait for victims. Such an idea is entirely wrong; snakes seldom attact. Of course they li defend themselves, but they are usually the first molested.

"Another interesting thing is that a snake must be colled before it can strike effectively. I would be no more afraid of the bite of a snake when it is stretched at full length than I am of a sting of a bee. In order to give strength to the blow, to throw the poison from the pouch in which it is secreted, they must be colled and prepared for action."

AMBASSADOR VAN ALEN trusts that the Republican Senators will all stand by him by universal compliance with the ordiin his attempt to secure an abiding place beyond the confines of this vulgar and unfit Republic.

A HOUSE OF DETENTION should be provided, in charge of a well qualified matron, where young girls could be confined awaiting trial. The holdover is no place for such prisoners.

According to Auditor Brown's statement only $1,375 of the contingent fund remains in the City Treasury. Is the rest of it spent or has the Mayor removed it to another place of deposit?

THE House of Representatives is not a very dignified body, but the records do t show that accusations of espionage nd eavesdropping have ever been exanged between members.

THE debt due the railroads for the trans portation of the Colorado miners should be paid out of the contingent fund. The attempt to make a special appropriation is not in order. On no other account could he be thought of for the place.

A DISAPPOINTMENT.

The bill now before the Assembly appropriating $1,062 to pay the railroad companies for taking the stranded Colorado miners out of town last summer is really, though indirectly, a bill to add that much to the Mayor's secret contingent fund.

This fund was established to provide against just such emergencies. It is for charitable purposes and to enable the Mayor to act promptly and secretly, whenever, in his judgment, secrecy is desirable. It is a public, not a private fund, and is in no sense a perquisite of the Mayor's office. If at the end of the year any of it is left it of her sex. should be covered into the Treasury like other surplus public funds.

The refusal of the Mayor to pay the railroads out of it is truly extraordinary. But it takes one's breath away when Councilmen, elected for their supposed special qualifications as sturdy defenders of honesty and economy, meekly submit to his him for an explanation. Why does he refuse? Is the fund exhausted? If so, what extraordinary drafts have been made upon it? Have the reform members of the Council asked these questions? If so the people gether. have a right to know the answers.

The transaction is a disappointment. It perplexes and dismays those whose expecscandalous performances.

THE SMOKE PROBLEM SOLVED

The very simple, unpatented and inexpensive, but very satisfactory smoke-preventing device so successfully applied to the Post-Dispatch furnaces for a couple of weeks past has been inspected and approved by smoke inspectors, boiler insurers and a number of chimney owners interested in the execution of the ordinance for the abatement of the smoke nuisance. Elsewhere in this issue we print the testimony of some of these gentlemen as to its easy application and effectiveness.

Of course a more general trial of it will be required to determine whether any fireman and engineer can make it work in all plants. There may be flues and furnaces so defective that a more or less costly reconstruction must precede the successful operation of any smoke-preventing arrangement. All we claim for this one is very smoky chimney practically smokeplant without delay and at trifling cost.

nance. To secure this universal compliance with the ordinance, the POST-DISPATCH has sought and found an unpatented, easily applied and inexpensive, method of insuring perfect combustion and smokeless chimneys, which promises to work well in any steam plant and which we hope to see tried by those who are waiting to see the more costly methods tried by others.

A GRAVE QUESTION.

The disgraceful scene in the Senate yesterday was the direct result of the introduction of "business" into that august assembly.

The Senate has fallen from its high estate as a popular representative body and become too much an assemblage of the representatives and paid attorneys of special interests who use the political machinery established to preserve and enlarge the liberties of the people, to promote the fortunes of mine-owners, manufacturers and others strong enough or rich enough to buy or dictate the appointment of Senators subservient to them or actually in partnership with them.

These men holding office, not from the section, stand in the way of an overwhelming majority of the American people. They had if their interests are tampered with, and like all men who stand up for the No DOUBT Prince Bismarck will be wrong, become ill-tempered, bad-man-

With this programme the minority can make itself supreme. Minorities can exchange services and establish government by "courtesy." rom the New York WORLD.
The "A. P. A.." or "American Protective Association," is a conspiracy which origi-nated in Pennsylvania. It spread westward and in some of the Western States it under ook to dictate in politics last year. It is now beginning its operations in New York, and it is the duty of every good citizen to oppose himself to it with all his influ Its intention is to revive the old Know Nothing agitation, which led to so much bit-terness and bloodshed during the fifties. Irish-Americans are the special objects of its hatred, but it proposes to disfranchise all

It is very likely that well-meaning people been drawn into this organization the misrepresentations it is so ready to use It is even possible that it embraces some Democrats among its members. All such should come out of it at once. It always has been and always must be used against the Democratic party. Nothing could be more opposed to the spirit of American democracy than the establishment of a religious test of any kind in politics.

It is the right of every man in this country o adhere to any religion he pleases as long as he does not make it a part of his religion to commit crime, Except for that single qualification religious, liberty is abs and it is of the most vital importance that it

A Conspiracy of Talk.

From the Philadelphia Times. Whenever a majority of the Senate are willing to bring this profitless debate to a close, they can do do. If they allow it to run on indefinitely, while the country waits and suffers, they cannot clear themselves of blame by conjuring up party bugaboos. The country is not caring for politics now; it is caring for business, and none of the old olitical scarecrows will frighten it olerance of this malign conspiracy of talk.

A Contrast of Civilizations.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican. Those bond investment companies which played such havoc with poor people's pockets in Massachusetts have appeared in sourl with the same old charge that any body who opposes their swindling scheme is an agent of the old-line insurance com panies. But the Secretary of State neverthe less has stopped chartering them. This where Missouri's civilization appears to an advantage as against that of Massachusetts et al. care for Senator Voorhees' lofty talk about public opinion, senatorial dignity and honor, etc., etc. Such considerations are not worth one-tenth of what their silver mines are valued at.

What the South Invokes From the Springfield Union.

"Are the Southern obstructionists willing to go home empty-handed, with nothing to show for a Democratic restoration?" ask the New York World, Well, it looks in goo deal like it. The "Democratic restoration is turning out a hollow mockery.

A Buthless Law.

From the Chicago Mail. If the bill forbidding officers of a bank bo rowing from its funds becomes a law the incentive to a great many people to start banks will be ruthlessly removed.

It Is Enough. From the New York WORLD.

Representative Holman, the professional economist, has introduced a bill providing that all persons who are drawing pensions on account of loss of limbs shall be entitled to receive back pay for the period between their discharge or disability and the passage of the law authorizing their pensions. This is another scheme for loosing the Treasury. Its precise significance, inasmuch as the loss of a limb has always been pensionable, is not clearly apparent. But there has been a great deal of legislation increasing pensions for specific causes. Probably business. We have had an arrears of Fen-sions act which cost several times more than any estimate that was made. There is no good reason why this Congress should pass another similar act or engage in the busi-ness of raising any pensions. The cost on account of pensions will be above $160,000,000 next year. It is enough.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

[No matter written on both sides of the sheet can appear under this head, -Ed.] The School Election.

To the Editor of the Post- Dispatch: I see from the papers that there are a certain select very high toned set of gentlemen who have presumed to act for the people in selecting candidates for School Directors. This may be all right in the minus of the cer tain few, but it is a very grave mistake for

This may be all right in the minus of the certain few, but it is a very grave mistake for the best interests of the schools. What our schools need now is a very severe, old-fashioned shaking up of the School Board, such as can be had only by a free and fearless discussion of the crookedness and rottenness of the management of School Board affairs. Let us have some politics in this election, show up the dark secrets, creats some enthusiasm, and bring out the votes and select men whom the people know will not represent rings and cliques, but will work for the best interests of the schools. By all means let the party committees get together, call their conventions and let the people nominate the candidates. Unless this is done very little interest will be taken, and, practically, the election will go by default as heretofore, and the corruption will continue. Too much is at stake. Millions of dollars are invested, and the education of our children—the future citizens of our city—is to be controlled and directed by the men who shall be elected. We want men who will be honest and intelligent enough to give us the best teachers, without discrimination, who will do away with the fads and boild more school houses for every child who wants to go to school all day. The people, through the regular parties, must take hold of this matter at once, and let the so-called reformers fall in line and work with and for the people's good.

Expatristed Americans.

Expatriated Americans.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A good deal is said about American interests in Brazil, but no explanation is giver what these interests really are. As a matter of fact the so called "American" interest All Americans who emigrated to Brazil went there knowing that at any time serious disurbances might take place, that their prop turbances might take place, that their property was liable to confiscation or destruction, and that they were subject to the law of Brazil. As long as everything was serene these self-exhed Americans took not the slightest interest in the United States, but as soon as there is a possibility of losing a part or all of their earthly possessions the hue and cry goes forth that American interests are in danger, and kindhearted Uncle Sam forthwith dispatches several warships to Sho de Jansiro to protect—what? Why, toprotect the property of people who during their residence in Brazil never paid I cent of our taxes, people who never gave a farthing toward the construction of our navy, of individuals who in peace gave up their American citizenship, but who in time of war suddenly remember that they are citizens of this Republic and clamor for its protection.

These people have made their beds, now let them lie in them.

To protect private interests in foreign countries at the expense of the people at home is paternalism of the rankest sort.

UNCLE TOM.

The Contractor and the Mayor.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Do you know that Mayor Walbridge is going get the city into any amount of trouble if he keeps playing the demagogue in the man nor that he is doing? It is easy for the Coun nor that he is doing? It is easy for the Council to pass ordinances that are lilegal, but the city will eventually have to pay the bill of costs when the contractor sues. Besider it is the easiest thing in the world for a contractor who has a bad contract to get himself reported by a few laborer and have his contract ended. The city under the ordinance must pay him for what he has done and look to an uncertain bond for the performance of the work Look out There are breakers ahead. The Walbridge push are no better than the courts in Kansas decide the law hours' work to be unconstitutional will leave the state and several cities for hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Allice Heinrich, the girl who claimed to have been assualted by a nexto near Ivory Station on Wednesday, is thought by the farmers in the vicinity of Carondelet to be insane or an impostor. It is now stated that sie fold her story of the outrage as printed in yesterday's Post-Disparch about from house to house among the farmers, and is said to have raised about $50 in this way. Canada was ahead in the sheep exhibit yesterday. The judges found the Canadians with a better class of Lincoln sheep on exhibition than their competitors and they awarded them the prizes.

In the swine ring the Berkshire class was continued, H. H. Gentry of Sedalia, Mo,, capturing the largest number of prizes.

The Exposition will be entirely free from debt Oct. 9. It was thought fitting that Chicago Day should be the time for squaring all accounts against the Fair, and if the weather holds out as fine as it has been the total obligation of $1.850,000 will be met and a neat sum will still remain in the treasury. Should anything unforseen happen, however, to upset the calculations of attendance, the directors will go into their pockets and make a the deficiency, so, come what may, the fair is to stand free of outside creditors on hicago Day. The Hall of Washington was well filled today at the opening session of the International Congress of Sunday Rest. Maj.-Gen. O. O. Howard, United States Army, who was selected to preside, received a hearty welcome. He congratulated the audience upon the interest manifested in Sabbath observance, and after addresses of welcome and responses, Dr. Lyman of the Bloomingdale Asylum, of New York, read a paper concerning the physiological aspect of Sunday rest. At this afternoon's session the legal aspect of the Sunday question was discussed by Gen. Howard, ex-Postmaster-General John Wanamaker and several others. Still another congress to inaugurate its sessions this morning was that of evolutionists, which drew together a large company of scienting men and women to discuss the Darwinian theory and relative topics. At the opening session Edward P. Powell of New York spoke upon constructive evolution, Benjamin F. Underwood of lilinois discussed the progress of evolutionary thought and a lree-for-all debate was then declared to be in order.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 .- Capt. Legoe of the ment of Religions is a thing of the past, but steamship Janson, which arrived at her pier it is succeeded to day by a number of gatherings having relation to the exterior work "On Saturlay, Sept. 16," he said, "at 10:30

sp. m., while in latitude 32 deg. 8 min., longitude 73 deg. 55 min., the look-out discovered an empty lifeboat. I stopped the ship and sent one of my own boats after the craft and it was brought to the vessel. Careful examination was made of the boat. We learned that she was one of the Alvo's lifeboats, tangled in the life lines of which were two bits of a man's suspender. One of the air boxes in the bow was washed out and two of her thwarts were gone.

"In the bow were two circular holes each about six inches in diameter. These or lifes were clean cut and had evidently been punched by some sharp inst rument, probably one of the Alvo's masts. On the edges of the holes were patches of red paint, which I understand is used in coating the Atias Line's steamers' spars. The side of the boat was somewhat battered, evidently the result of a collision with heavy wreckage. When we found the boat, however, all the wreckage had vanished. The craft was surrounded by immense numbers of fish, including sharks. This would indicate that food of some sort had recently been floating in it. I feel certain that none of the occupants could have been saved. The holes were so large that to keep bed dry by bailing must have been impossible."

After some routine business the debate on the election bill was resumed, and John C. Black of Illinois, ex-Commissioner of Pensions, took the floor in support of the bill. This was his maiden speech in the House and he was accorded impressive attention. In beginning his argument, Gen. Black said he desired to discuss the pending question in a quiet and investigating spirit. He would not consider it from a constitutional standpoint but as a Demo-trat and a citizen would try to show his reasons for favoring the repeal of this system of laws. They were enacted in 1855 and the most that could be claimed for them was that they were 'designed to operate at a time and under circumstances that no longer exist. It was a period following a fierce and demoralizing struggle; the system was a child of the force, hatred and dread of men long arrayed on sectional lines against each other. If these laws were ever efficient and useful that time is gone, what is the just and wise thing to do now? What is needed in this country now is an elevation of the nature of the franchise. If men are not fit to exercise this right they should be deprived of the priviles of participating in the government of their country. He did not mean, he said, the ignorance of books, but ignorance of the applit and genius of American institutions. The corrupt and venal voters constitute the danger to the country. The election laws do not meet this condition, because they were not designed for this purpose.

They were designed to protect and elevate an unfortunate race, by supporting them with the strong arm of the Government. They were designed to intensity the race issue. They appeal to force, not reason. In this particular case the claim has been covered in two appropriation bills, and still it is unsettled. In the bill referred to Mr. Holman provides an appropriation of $50,000 for the purchase of the Fort Brown dillitary Reservation, Texas, and to extinguish all claims for the use and occupation of said reservation. Reservation, Texas, and to extinguish all claims for the use and occupation of said reservation.

The claim had its origin in the war with Mexico, when Gen. Taylor took possession of the territory in question for military purposes. It was located upon the Rio Grande River and the treaty of Guadaloupe Hidalgo left Fort Brown within the domain of the United States. At that time there was no improvement on or hear the land and it was practically valueless.

Subsequently the town of Brownsville sprung up adjacent to the fort, and in 1853 proceedings were begun by Gen. P. F. Smith, under direction of the Secretary of War, to condemn the land for Government purposes. On the 29th of November, 1853, a jury assessed the value of the property at $50,000. Twenty-six years later a judgment nunc pro tune was entered on this finding, in the absence of anyone to represent the United States. As to the value of the land at the time the assessment was made Gen. Reynolds said: "You could buy large tracts of land there by wating the head for the states of land there he wating the head for the grand of the said."

with the strong arm of the Government. Those were designed to intensify the race issue. They appeal to force, not reason.

"I will vote," declared Gen. Black, emphatically, "for any amount of money and force if necessary to uphold the dignity of the Government and the rights of its citizens, but these laws do neither."

IN THE SENATE.

The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Teller calling for information as to the anticipation of interest on Government bond affect is wall as paying the said, he would debate it.

Mr. Voorhees (Dem., Ind.) said a literal compliance would involve great labor. He asked Mr. Teller to define the scope of that part of the resolution asking "under what circumstances" interest had been anticipated, which was the objectionable part of the resolution.

In 1830 Mrs. Cavazac, through whom the present claimants hold tille, asked the War bepartment to pay her $130,000 for damages and rent. Quartermaster General Meigs reported $24,800 would be a high estimate of the amount due the claimants, if the Government per rent from its first occupancy. Six years later Gongress appropriated $25,000 to purchase the property, and a board of army officers appraise its value at that sum from 184 to this date—1875—18 addition. asked Mr. Teller to define the scope of that part of the resolution asking 'under what

Mr. Teller replied that the new Administration had been installed largely because its party had found fault with the financial policy of the Republican party, and he assumed that it meant a radical revision and policy of the Republican party, and he assumed that it meant a radical revision and reconstruction of the flancial policy of the country.

Air. Platt (Rep.) of Connecticut asked Mr. Teller whether he had heard from anybody authorised to speak for the Administration any suggestion of a policy to be inaugurated by the Administration different from the flancial policy which had prevailed.

Mr. Teller said perhaps he had, but he did not suppose he assumed too much when he assumed that in the four years of the Democratic Administration the Administration would approach the subject and deal with it. He did not see how that party could go into the next campaign and ask the support of the people unless it dealt with the monetary question, and the repeal of the Sherman act was not dealing with it.

Referring to resolutions of inquiry, Mr. Calier expressed his amazement that Republeans should the their hands by voting values for information which were proper and illed for information which were proper and illed for information which had never been pied the minority during a Republican adjustration. There was an attempt to reflect the fundamental party would be best subserted by their remaining there. The repeal bill was then taken up at 1 o'clock. Mr. Hoar (Rep.) of Massachusetts sent up to the desk and had read an aditorial from the Peoria (Ill.) In addition to many private claims Mr. McKaig has introduced bills providing for the payment of $200,000 to the city of Frederick. $80,000 to the city of herefrick. $80,000 to Middletown. All of these claims grew out of the raids of Gen. Jubal Early, who levied the above sums upon the towns after their invasional managements.

of parliamentary bitterness. Wolcott, the Republican silver champion from Colorado, said: "we are not without definite information that an arrangement has been sought to be consummated between certain Senators on the other side of the chamber; that it is initiated by the Senator who is supposed to be the surer of so many Democratic Senators as have left their party piniform and have linked themselves with the fortune of their executive, and led on this side of the chamber by the dominant apostie of protection—two Senators who are supposed to belong on opposite sides of the chamber, but who seem now to be setting very close togethes."

The Maryland Senator (Gorman) said he did not believe the Senator from Colorado would stand upon the statement that he had made, "for I take it that he alluded to myself and the Senator from Rhode Island (Aldrich). I ask him if he meant me." And then ar, Gorman paused.

Ar, Wolcott was quickly on his feet.

"We have been advised," said he, "that there has been a consultation of Senators going on for some days; that the Senator from Rhode Island the repeal on this side, and that the Senator from Maryland has been marshaling the members on that side who favor repeal, with a view to agreeing upon some further and more rigorous measure which shall compet the Senate to sit longer hours in order, if possible, by that method to force a vote. Pennsylvania succeeded in having reported favorably by the War Claims Committee, of which he is Chairman, his bill for the payment of 83,447,045,04 to residents of Southern Pennsylvania for damages sustained because of the invasion of Confederate and the presence of Union forces during the late war.

These Pennsylvania war claims grew out of three expeditions into that State—in 1852 by Gen. Stuart, in 1863 by Gen. Lee, and in 1854 by Gen. Stuart, in 1863 by Gen. Lee, and in 1854 by Gen. Jubal Early. On the 29th of July, 1864, the Confederate brigades of Johnson and McCausland, consisting of from 2,500 to 3,000 men, with six guns, crosted the Potoof the questions connected with the tariff is that admitting to American registry vessels built in foreign couniries. There is now pending before the committee a bill, introduced by Chairman Fithian, providing that vessels purchased and built in foreign countries may be admitted to American registry at any port of entry of the United States, providing such vessels are not to be used in constwise trade. This measure is one to which the Democratic party has repeatedly piedged itself and is designed to make the American flag a more familiar and cheering spectacle on the high seas. Like other phases of the turiff question, this proposition has its opponents as well as its adnerents in the Demornatic party, although the party is piedged to it and there seems every likelihood of the Democratic majority of the committee ordering a favorable report.

Chairman Fithian has finally agreed to grant public hearings on the measure. Capt. John Colman of New York, David A. Wells of Connecticut, John Forbes, a veteran China tea merchant of Boston, Hurlburt & Co. of New York and others are expected to address the committee at a series of House meetings which will open on Nov. On the 28th of July, 1864, the Confederate brigades of Johnson and McCausland, consisting of from 2,500 to 5,000 men, with six guns, crossed the Potomac and advanced upon Chambersburg, the county seat of Frankin County. The town was invested by the entire command of Johnson and McCausland, and a demand made upon the people for $100,000 in gold or $300,000 in government funds as a ransom a number of citizens being arrested and held as hostages for its payment. No offer of money was made by the people, and the town was burned by the Confederate forces. The burning of Chambersburg occurred July 30, 1864, and resulted in a loss which was estimated by commissioners appointed by two acts of the assembly of Pennsylvania, 1868 and 1871. The most expensive raid in Pennsylvania was the raid in 1864 by Gen. Early. Stuart's raid in 1863 amounted to $123,067.00.

"Am, am I?" asked the first speaker, angrily; "well, lemme tell you somethin' that I done with a cow once. I had a partikler fine Holstein, an' she was a great milker. One day she met with an accident and had her tail cut off in a feed-cutter. Now, as perhaps you know, the tail is the cow's great protector against files. She uses that to get rid of all the insects that bother her, and without a tail this cow of mine was gettin' eat up with the pesky bugs. I watched her suffer, and as I couldn't fix no blanket for her I was just about to kill her and put her out of her agony; I was standin't in the barn one day watchin'this cow sufferin' from fly bites and seein' all other cows gettin' along first rate by brushin' off the files with their tails when a sort of movement that cow made brought an idee into my head."

"Ihiks I, I'll just train that cow to kick off them files, So I led her out on the barn floor and stood in front of her and kicked up into the air myself. I did this three or four times, and then I see that the cow understood. I turned her leose in the pastur' an' sure as I'm here, she began to practice kick-rawhile she got to be real nandy with her legs. Why, she could kick a fly off the back of her neck with her hind hoof and never miss a stroke in her cud-chewin'. She began to fatten up a bit, and bimeby she got so clever with her kickin' that she dgo around sickin' files off the other cows. Oh, she was gay, I tell you. But she come to a bed end. One day the hired man was out in the barn and the cow see a fly on his ear. She kicked it off, but miscalkilated her distance somehow and gave him a swipe alongside the ear that mocked him cold. I got afraid that she would be getting familiar the same way with the rest of the folks and I had to sell her."

"What became of her?" asked the young fellow with the creased trousers.

Dr. Priest says it is questionable in his mind whether the woman, who is only 20 years old, should be confined in an asylum. She is sensible enough on general subjects and talks very rationally but she says she cannot help loving Dr. Brandt because he used to call her his pet and was always so kind to her. "She pleaded with me." said Dr. Priest, "to let her go and she would never look at Dr. Brandt again. It is one of those peculiar cases where it is difficult to state just what remedy can be applied."

An Amusing Story of the Censorship of the Press in Austria.

From the Sesten Transcript.

An amusing story of the thor the pross censorship in Austria is told in a German newspaper. An editor, being at his wits' end for a leading article, had the in-spiration at the last moment to print these lines:

cle written for the present number by one of the ablest of our contributors, we have ar-rived at the conclusion that it may be misinthe ablest of our contributors, we have arrived at the conclusion that it may be misinterpreted by the authorities and regarded as an attact upon the Government.

"We ourselves consider it to be perfectly innocent, but as we are unwilling for our readers' sake, as well as for our own, to have our newspapers confiscated, we have very unwillingly, though, as we think, pradently, resolved to withdraw the article. This must serve as the apoloxy to our readers for the blank space in our present issue." Imagine the shock with which he heard from his civit the pext morning that the paper had been confiscated by the police. "or what reason?" asked the astounded editor. "For mailtions ridicule of the institutions of the Austrian Empire by the omission of the leading article." replied the clerk.

The father said that he would break the news to them, and he said furthermore that he did not wish them to see the body, but preferred they should retain the recollection of their mother from seeing her while she was alive. Mr. X. went upstairs to the room of his little girl and found them awake. He told them as well as he could that their mother had had to go away and that they would not be able to see her for a long time.

"You," said the sider girl; "we know."
"How did you know?" asked the father in surprise. "Who told you?"
"Mother came in last night and woke us up and said she was going away. She kissed us and told us to be good little girls."
The younger girl corroborated this, and the children, it seemed, had gone to sleep quite contented. They had been talking over their mother's visit when their father entered the room in the morning.

As far are Mr. X. could bearn no one had told the children of their mother's death.

The moment steam was turned on again, and the doors slightly opened, the smoke disappeared and the keenest eyesight could hardly detect any carbon in the heated air that rose above the smoke stack.

This device has been in position for about a fortnight and many visitors have inspected its practical workings.

The fact that it is cheap, not costing above $10, all told, will be a guarantee that it will co into effect universally and immediately.

Mr. Edward Lyng, the engineer, said this morning in response to the question: "What is the cost of this consumer as it stands?" The actual outlay, not counting my that and labor, was not above $3,85 all the bollers. I have had a good many people here examining the device, but it is so simple any of them understands it as soon as it is shown. There is nothing of it except this pipe from the steam drum, and these form jets—all of them equalized and worked by this single valve. The leaving the doors partly open is the only feature that has not in some form been used long since. All we claim is that we have put it up, that it works perfectly and that it is done by the Post-Dispatch.

"I do not know all my visitors," continued he, "but the engineer of the Mercantile Library has rigged up two of his bollers and will start them on Monday morning. A gentleman who said he had all his money invested and that be could not afford to pay 200 for every new device that came along and prove its impracticability, also inspected this plan and said he would order it put into their butting right way.

The President of the Merchants' Exchange examined it and said he was so pleased he would order it put into their butting right way.

It is perfectly safe. It is surprisingly cheap, and the results are all that could be asked."

Mr. Paul Rybitzki, mechanical engineer, with Felber Machine Works, says: "It is the whole argument in a nutshell. Nothing could be cheaper, safer or more satisfactory. It is equal to anything on the market, and is so cheaply constructed that I believe it will be used universally."

Will Not Preach Again.

The B'nai Amoona congregation, at Thir-teenth and Carr streets, met last night and passed resolutions in contradiction of the statements that their former rabbi, Rev. A. Rosenstreter, was striving to get back to the palpit. The resolutions express the congregation's regret at the loss of the services of Mr. Rosenstreter, who filled the position of minister with credit and satisfaction, free of compensation. The reason for Mr. Rosenstreter's resignation is stated to be his desire to embark upon a commercial career and the congregation extends to him its wishes for his success, as well as its gratitude to him for his services to them. Mr. Rosentreter has decided not to preach again, in order to avoid dissensions as much as possible. Trouble was caused some time ago by the effort of certain members of the congregation to introduce choir singing. The vocal powers of the singers were very deficient, so that, it is said; itwas a trial to the congregation to listen. The choir was therefore discontinued. Rev. Mr. Jonap, a cantor, now does the singing. There is no preaching service.

The cases against the railroad officials in dicted for the violation of the inerstate comnerce law were called this morning in the United States District Bosrow, Mass., Sept. 28.—It is learned that the donor of $500,000 to Harvard College, something over a year ago to build, equip and maintain a reading-room, the identity of whom has created a good deal of speculation, was the late F. L. Ames of Easton. The amount was to have been paid in installments, and papers pledging Mr. Ames to the fulfillment of his obligation are said to have been drawn up awaiting his signature at the time of his deafth. Although the college has no legal claim on this donation under the circumstances, plans for the building have been drawn and some contracts are all ready to be given out. The action of Mr. Ames' heirs in the matter is awaited with great interest by the officers and friends of Harvard, and it remains to be seen whether or not they will complete the work that Mr. Ames' ieft unfinished.

Crane of Danville informed Bishop Fowler that he had telegraphed to Chicago his purpose of preferring charges of heresy against Rev. Miller. The notice from Grane has changed the Bishop's mind and until after the trial Rev. Miller will not have a pulpit. It is not known on what utterances Rev. Grane will base his charges. Both men are prominent ministers, but have been enemies for some years past.

AT THE THEATERS. Attractions to Be Presented During Fair

At the Olympic "The Girl I Left Behind Me'' is playing to as large audiences during the second week of its engagement as it was during the first. On Sunday next Robert Nantell will present "Monbars," "The Face in the Moonlight," "Parrhasius" and "The Corsican Brothers," Corsican Brothers."

Lewis Morrison in "Faust" is playing to large audiences at the Grand. The performance to-night will not begin until after the illumination.

Magician Herrmann, the wonder and delight of young folks, and an ever-popular amuser of the people, will appear at the Grand Opera-house during Fair week. He will, as usual, be assisted by Mme. Herrmann. The chief illusion of Herrmann's repertoire this season is his latest seasation, which he has named "After the Ball." The idea of it is taken from the jewel scene in "Faust." A large mirror is placed upon the stage so that the audience can see underneath, on both sides and over it, entirely isolated from all other objects. Marguerite is discovered disrobing herself, without any curtains, cabinet or covering of any kind whatsoever. At a wave of Hermann's magic wand she disappears as though the earth had swallowed her up.

Another one of his illusions is entitled "The Mysterious Swing of Here! There! Nowhere!" The lady is seated in a swing ten from all surrounding objects, and at the firing of a pistol shot she dissolves into the air, while the swing falls in pieces to the stage.

In the course of his celebrated spirit seance firing of a pistol shot she dissolves into the air, while the swing falls in pieces to the stage.

In the course of his calebrated spirit seance Hermann will introduce the calebrated Mme. Blavatsky's cabinet. In this cabinet all the well-known spiritual manifestations will be reproduced.

The well-known illusion, "The Escape From Sing Sing," which created such a sensation at Hermann's own play-house on Broadway, will also be given.

At the Hagan next week the favorite spectacular play, "Superba", will be the attraction. There are a number of specialities, including a serpentine dance executed by five young ladies. All the latest faures are introduced. Twelve calcium lights are brought into use. Pictures of prominent persons are thrown on the dresses of the dancers. Among the people included in the organization this season are the Schroeder Brothers, Julia Mackey, is and Midgeley, Bells Murin, Jean Munson, Rose Satheriand and Louis Feters.

At Pope's "The Operator" is drawing well, "The Ensign" is to be given on a grand scale for one week, commencing with the Sunday matinee, Oct. 1. "The Ensign" is the only purely nautical drama produced in this country. It deals with a fistorical event of 1861—the Mason-Sidell incident. As a picturesque illustration of the life of our gallant American tars, and a life-like and powerful sketch of scenes on board an American man-of-war, "The Ensign" will undoubtedly please a good many theater-goers. The play itself is a strong one, and the company that will present it is regarded as highly competent. The drama has a rich setting by way of scenery. Two of the scenes are laid in Washington. The principal scene is in the third act and represents a sectional view of the San Jacinto. Capt. Wilkes. It shows a view of the gun deck of a man-of-war. The scene was taken in detail from the United States man-of-war Kearsarge, lying at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the artist getting some forty photographs and color studies from which the scene was painted. The Kearsarge was contemporaneous with the earlier ships of the navy in the great rebellion. This is but one of the shipboard scenes, there being another representing the spartdeck of the same vessel lying at the Washington Navy Yard. It represents a double acation in the play. Between decks are the sallors and officers going about their duties, while on the deck above are seen the other other actors in the drama.

E. J., better known as "Lucky" Baldwin, the noted California millionaire turfman, has become disgusted with the manner in which the gambling element has gained control of the turf, and unless a change of policy is inaugurated by the end of next season he will retire and confine himself to breeding exclusively. Baldwin's famous black and red Maltese cross colors are known to almost every turfite in the country and they have been carried to the front by such noted campaigners as Volante, Silver Cloud, Lucky B., Emperor of Norfolk, Los Angeles, Santiago and Santa Anna. The great colored jockey, Isaac Murphy, when in his prime rode for Baldwin's stable. Baidwin's stable.
Speaking of the con

Mr. Baldwin, who is now racing his Santa Anita stable at Latonia, said: "After twenty years on the turf, it would seem that I am about to be chased out of the business. It is this policy of giving so many short races that is playing havoe with racing. This fact demonstrates conclusively that the managers of race tracks nowdays cater to the owners of low grade horses. The conditions of the races are made at all the tracks now in such races are made at all the tracks now in such a way as to put a premium on this class of performers. An owner is actually better off with a stable of selling skates than he is with a string of first-class racers, for the simple reason that the conditions of nearly all the races are framed for flyers of the selling plater variety. High class horses have to stay in their stalls, because there are no suitable races for them to run in. How often lo Yo Tambien, Maid Marian and that class of flyers get a chance to run? Not yery often, do they? I believe the race-going pub-lic would rather see one race at a mile and a quarter or a mile and an eighth between good horses than they would a half dozen sprint races between selling dogs. I don't think there should be any races shorter than seven-eighths of a mile for anything but as to attract the best horses on the track instead of the worst. This would have a ten-dency to purify the turf. Above all the evil of owners racing their own horses on tracks they own and control should be eradicated. You can count the tracks on the fingers of one hand where this state of affairs does not exist. What chance has an outsider got and controlled by men who own and control the track and track employes? Isn't he badly handleapped at the outset? The starter and the handleapper at the track are in their employ | Isn't it natural that they should favor the men to whom they owe their bread and butter? Certainly it is. How easy it is for a starter to give a horse the race with the flag. He can let it off in front, and then if it is only as good as those behind it will have enough advantage to make it a winner. In the handicapping is where un-

Mr. Walbaum's Lamplighter and Marcus
Daly's Tammany will there struggle for supremacy and a purse of $5,000 hung up by the Hudson County Jockey Club, with a side bet between the owners of the horses of $2,500 each. Thus $10,000 is in the land that between the owners of the horses of $2,500 each. Thus $10,000 is in the land and a race scarcely second that between the owners of the horses of the horse of $2,500 each. Thus $10,000 is in the land that between Domino and Dobbins, is looked forward to with interest in racing circles today. Garrison is the mounted knight who is expected to land Tammany a winner, while Tarai, the wizard Jockey, will straddle the back of Lamplighter. The distance will be one mile and a quarter and each horse will run his race ander a weight of 122 pounds. The track during the morning was being combed and brushed into its finest possible condition and there seems no physical reason why each horse should not make his best effort for the little fortune that lies at the end of the race.

Many opinions have been advanced by old horsemen and race-goers as to the relative chances each horse has. A veteran owner and trainer says that if the race was to be for two and a half miles that the betting would be about 2 to 1 on Lamplighter, but as it was Tammany stood an excellent show, and so it went, the friends and admirers of each horse giving expression to his opinion of his favorite and backing that opinion with a flourish of bills, which he would place on his horse to win. The betting is extremely heavy on the race. One bookmaker yesterday offered $1,000 on Lamplighter, while another bet $1,100 to $1,000 on Tammany.

GOSSIP FOR TURFITES.

Jookey Dwyer's Trouble With Jimmy NoCormick, Sargent and Jordan.

Jockey Dwyer is now riding at the course across the river. Dwyer is the youngster that was under contract to James McCor-mick last year, but did not like the manner in which the latter treated him and came West. While riding for McCormick at Guttenberg, Dwyer was considered one of the best lightweights at that track. Barney best lightweights at that track. Barney Schrieber wanted to secure him, when he came West, but the lad was refused permission to ride on the Western Circuit, until his trouble with McCormick was settled. Schrieber then went East to Induce a cCormick to release the boy, but did not succeed, and Dwer returned homs. Late this summer he managed to get away from McCormick and went to Hawthorne to ride for Schrieber. It will be remembered he had the mount on King Mac at the Ciecro course the day Corrigan's Huron defeated Barney's son of King Alfonso for the $5,000 Ridgeland handicap. For some reason or another his riding wild not suit Schrieber and he came down to this city a few days ago.

Number of Men That Have Occupied Posttions on the Browns.

Joe Quinn is the only man on the St. Louis eam that has held his position throughout why the local club was lacking in team work he has but to consider the endless shifting of men that has wone on since the opening of the season. Left field, for instance, has been occupied at various times by Grimn, Dowd and Frank; Brodie, Goodenough and Shugart were centerfielders. In the right field Dowd, Feitz, Gleason, Bannon and Cooley have performed at various times. Short field was the kaleidescopic point on the infield, Peitz, Bannon, Shugart, Crooks, Jud Smith and Ely having tried their hardest at stopping the gap left by Glasscock's sale. Crooks and welden have held down their positions nearly all the time, sithough as many as four different men have covered the third bag during the season. Welden was relieved by.0'Nell for a while, but the change was not for the better. Neven men have officiated behind the bat; Buckley, Peitz, Gunson, Sommers, Acauley, I winch and Cooley.

The way in which the team has been shifted he has but to consider the endless shifting about is only equaled by Chicago, but while they were strengthening the St. Louis club was wrecking. Mr. Watkins made of the team a thing of shreds and patches. The consequences are evident.

A series of indoor base ball games are to be given at the Stock Parilion at the World's Fair grounds. A four club schedule has been made up and each player on the champion-hip nine will receive a gold medal, while the team coming in second will receive souvenir medals of silver. Indoor ball is essentially a Chicago fad and is indorsed there by society. There is no doubt about the success of the series. Games will be played every Monday. Tuesday and Thursday, commencing this week and continuing through October.

After the championship season is ended next Saturday the Bostons will make a tour in the West, playing a team managed by Jimmy Manning, to include Kittridge and Grim catchers, Rusle and Stein pitchers, Beckley, Manning, Davis and Dahlen for the infield, Elmer Smith, Tom Brown and Wilmot for the outfield.

Tyler's victories over Sanger at Scranton, coupled with his defeat by Windle and Taylor at Baltimore and Sprinefield, has raised the question of whether Sanger can be classed at all above them. His chief claims for racing honors this year are chiefly these: He is the one-mile English champion; he holds the three fastest miles ever made in a handicap race, and the fastest mile ever made in a scratch race. He has also beaten Zimmerman on three occasions. Opposed to this is the fact that he is fresh. Zimmerman tired after a long campaign. He has been beaten by Zimmerman three times this season, has been squarely beaten by Tyler twice, and by Windle once, and this at a time when he should be at his best. The sporting world in general cannot believe that Sanger is Zimmerman's equal, certainly not his superior.
